Amie Dicke at Centraal Museum, Utrecht, 2022.

Dicke edits photographs from fashion magazines, newspaper clippings and art books. Based on her fascination with the fashion industry, she comments on the prevailing ideals of beauty that apply to women. In recent years Dicke has developed various techniques to manipulate images: she scrapes away parts, cuts them up or covers them with ink or make-up. In this way Dicke makes you look at an image anew. This exhibition brings together a selection of works from the past 20 years, which dialogue with the historic interior spaces of the mansion.
